

NOMINATIONS OF FIVE OF GREEN'S AIDES TO SENATE

Four Code Directors, Ad- ministrative Auditor Appointed

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 14.—(AP)—Governor Dwight H. Green launched his new administration today with the appointment of five men — three of them little known to politics—to his "cabinet".

With no opposition, the state senate speedily confirmed his choices for four code department directors and an administrative auditor. Four others of the 10 code department directors were to be named later today.

The appointments were: Director of Finance—George B. McKibbin, 62, Chicago attorney and former president of the Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency.

Director of Public Works and Buildings—Walter A. Rosenfield, 62, former mayor of Rock Island and former Republican state committee chairman.

Director of Agriculture—Howard Leonard of Eureka, former president of the Illinois Agricultural Association.

Director of Mines and Minerals—Robert M. Medill, Springfield, who was director of mines and minerals during the administration of Governor Lowden.

Administrative Auditor—Gilbert E. Keebler, 49, Chicago real estate dealer and one of Governor Green's closest advisers.

The additional directors to be appointed will be the heads of the departments of welfare, conservation, insurance and registration and education.

Directors of health and labor probably will not be named today, it was announced officially.

John William Chapman, Chicago attorney and candidate on the Green ticket in 1939 for city clerk, was appointed the governor's executive secretary.

While the appointees named by Green this morning were not widely known for their political activity, John T. Dempsey, Cook county GOP chairman and head of the governor's newly-appointed five-member patronage committee declared each one had "actively contributed to Republican success in the last campaign".

Well Qualified
"They have been active in Republican affairs but not ostentatiously so," Dempsey said. "They were appointed not for their political activities, however, but in line with Governor Green's intention to pick qualified men."

The huge task of patronage involved in the switch from the Democratic to Republican administration will be taken up this afternoon at the first meeting of the governor's patronage committee.

Only Rosenfield and Medill of Green's first five appointments are party veterans. Medill served as mines and minerals director under Governors Lowden and Small while Rosenfield has long been active in party politics.

Agriculture Director J. H. Lloyd of Aurora, whom Leonard succeeds, described the new appointee as "qualified in every way". Leonard's appointment, Director Lloyd said in a letter of resignation to Governor Green, "will not only be a popular one but is in my judgment in line with the best interests of the farmers and other citizens of Illinois".

Lloyd announced that he had

Extremes in Day's Weather Reports

(By The Associated Press)
Temperatures plunged to new seasonal lows in many parts of the east today as a cold wave moved in from Canada, driving away comparatively mild weather.

While the east shivered, the west reported a complete absence of winter weather, with mild temperatures prevailing generally west of Kansas City, and a rain belt extending south as far as the Gulf through eastern Texas and most of Oklahoma and as far west as central Colorado.

Highways and golf courses in the vicinity of Kansas City were jammed over the week end.

Meanwhile, the Satan's Kingdom community of Hartford, Conn., reported 2 below zero; at Mount Washington, N. H., the mercury dropped to 50 below; at Boston, it was 4 above.

New York City shivered in the coldest weather this season—in 10 above.

In the middle west freezing rain spread a cross central Indiana and Illinois, into Missouri, Iowa and eastern Nebraska, slowing traffic to a crawl.

Celebration

Den Pasar, Bali, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The people of Bali, island of dusky beauties, turned out by the thousands today for a mass cremation of 1,200 bodies during the funeral of a priest of noble rank.

The bodies, some of persons long dead, were disinterred by relatives who saw in the occasion an opportunity for the spirits of the dead to accompany the priest's soul to heaven.

The island's entire population participated in the day-long rites, for, to the Balinese, the funeral was an occasion for joyous celebration, explosion of firecrackers and dancing.

American Experts See Nazi Attempt to Invade Ireland

Washington, Jan. 14.—(AP)—

Belief spread among American military experts today that Adolf Hitler's next stroke would be an attempted invasion of Eire to secure Irish bases for a fiercer air and submarine war on Britain's vital shipping.

The current furious raids by the R. A. F. upon the so-called invasion bases on the European continent were interpreted in many quarters as a reflection of British apprehension that Nazi eyes are now fixed on Ireland.

The opinion was expressed here that German transports from the channel ports and from Norway probably would attempt to land troops and mechanized equipment under cover of darkness, while paratroopers and air-transported infantry descended simultaneously to seize flying fields.

Calculations as to the timing of any invasion attempt were confused by conflicting factors. Winter's fog and long nights, for example, offer a shield to troop ships, but hinder aerial operations.

Up to British Navy

In any event, the experts agree, the British navy would be on the alert for any troop movement by surface ships and would seek to blow the convoys out of the water—a task that might be of major proportions if the German high command decided to risk the Reich's remaining warships to improve chances for the stroke's success.

The aerial thrust at Ireland would be much more elusive to combat. Once any large body of German troops won a foothold on Irish soil, military authorities said, it would be a costly and difficult operation to dislodge them.

American experts pointed out that Ireland could put up much less resistance to an invader than England, because of her lack of anti-aircraft and anti-tank guns, tanks, planes and other modern weapons—a general shortage officially acknowledged in Dublin earlier this month.

Self-Inflicted Wound Fatal to Amboy Youth

Raymond Gale, 18, of Amboy, who about 1 o'clock Monday afternoon fired a .22 caliber cartridge into his brain at his home in that city, expired at the Amboy city hospital at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Deputy Coroner Paul Sodergren of this city conducted an inquest at the Vaughan mortuary, the jury finding that death resulted from a gun shot wound, self-inflicted and with suicidal intent.

Testimony presented at the inquest indicated that the young man became despondent when an Amboy woman, with whom he had been keeping company, had returned a ring and wrist watch and declined a reconciliation following a recent quarrel. The young man was a member of Co. A, 129th infantry of Dixon.

He was born in Amboy, Jan. 27, 1922 and graduated from the Amboy township high school with the class of 1939. Funeral services will be held Thursday with interment in Temperance Hill cemetery.

Contest for Seat in U. S. Senate Is Unprecedented in All Its 62 Years

Washington, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The senate voted today to ask its elections committee for advice on how to settle the unprecedented contest between two West Virginians over one senate seat.

Neither of the men, who are seeking to fill the vacancy created by Matthew M. Neely's resignation to become governor, will be allowed to take an oath of office until after the committee has acted and its action been approved.

"There is quite a nice question of constitutional law involved," Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the elections committee told the senate in proposing that the contest—never duplicated in its details in 162 years of senate history—be referred to his committee.

OPPONENTS MOVE TO SCRAP LEASE PLAN IN SENATE

Roosevelt's Scheme to Meet Determined Up- per House Fight

Washington, Jan. 14.—(AP)—A White House official said today the question of whether there should be a time limitation on the powers contemplated for the president in the "lease-lend" bill to aid Britain probably would be left to congress.

Asked what the attitude of the White House was on such restriction, Stephen Early, presidential secretary, told reporters:

"I think the White House will just let the congress work it out. As far as I know, that is the disposition."

Early said so far as he knew also the president's mail on the lease-lend plan was not particularly heavy, now that the program was before congress. The chief executive did receive a heavy volume of mail after his address on defense and aid to Britain in a broadcast December 29. Early said, as well as in the days following his annual message to congress.

Demands Scrapping
Outright scrapping of Roosevelt's lease-lend plan was demanded by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) in a counter-proposal calling for cash loans, if and when needed.

Also today, Senator Clark (D-Mo.) said he favored calling Joseph P. Kennedy and William C. Bullitt to testify before the Senate foreign relations committee regarding the administration's bill.

Clark said the two should be able to give valuable background information on the war.

Bullitt, Clark said, "has been traipsing up and down the country trying to get up a war. I would like to know what commitments he has made on behalf of this country."

Former Ambassadors
Kennedy and Bullitt formerly occupied key positions as ambassadors to Great Britain and France respectively.

Taft, a member of the foreign relations committee, said that for Congress "the important thing in this issue" was to refuse the President the broad powers proposed in the administration bill, and to keep British aid separate from "our own defense", instead of linking them in the legislation.

The Ohioan's announcement to newsmen that he would devote his efforts to getting the bill killed apparently put him on the side of Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) and others who have indicated that, regardless of modifications, only the defeat of the administration plan would satisfy them.

Would Limit Loans
The substitute loan program which Taft advanced would become operative when British assets were exhausted and would be limited in the first instance to $1,000,000,000 or $1,500,000,000.

Taft said commerce department reports showed that Britain still had $4,000,000,000 of cash and marketable securities in the United States. If the first $1,500,000,000 loan proved insufficient for British use, he added, Congress could grant further sums.

The actual start of legislative work on the lease-lend measure had to be postponed until tomorrow because of the inability of Secretary of State Hull and Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau to appear before the House Foreign Affairs committee today.

Chairman Bloom (D-N.Y.) planned to open the hearings tomorrow

"Victory Dinner" Marks Telegraph Goal Attainment

Eighty-four Dixon Evening Telegraph carrier-salesmen and invited guests gathered at the Loveland Community House last evening for The Telegraph's second annual carrier-salesmen party, and a "7,000 Victory Dinner". At a Booster party a year ago, the entire circulation department of The Telegraph pledged itself to boost the circulation of this newspaper to a point in excess of 7,000 by January, 1941—and the event last evening celebrated attainment of the year's goal.

Soon after 5 o'clock, members of the energetic staff of "little merchants", who serve routes forming a network throughout Dixon and 24 outlying towns, began hurrying toward Dixon's beautiful new civic center, where The Telegraph management entertained.

The many young fellows with the pleasant smiles and courteous attitudes who deliver The Telegraph to thousands of subscribers throughout the Dixon trade area, represent nearly every community from Forreston to Mendota and from Prairieville to Rochelle.

The main dining room, the adjacent alcove, and the ladies' lounge upstairs were reserved for the carrier-salesmen and staff members in attendance. Courtesies extended by Mrs. Zoe Osborn Latham, Community House director, and Fred Krahler, maintenance man, added much to the party's success.

"Main Event"

A baked ham dinner, the "main event" of the evening, satisfied hearty appetites at 6:30. Excellent accommodations were provided for the group by H. K. Millard, his Hi-Way Grill chef, Frank Koga, and their staff.

Acting as master of ceremonies for the program which followed the dinner, A. V. Lund introduced local and suburban members of the circulation staff to the 78 boys who comprise the carrier force of The Telegraph, presented members of the news department, and explained the news room's part in the daily construction of the newspaper.

Mr. Lund also expressed appreciation for the carriers' loyalty, ambition and co-operation during the past year, and referred to their victory as a "stepping stone in the cycle of your life." "Continue to set goals for yourselves," he urged, "if you would take away the humdrum from your lives."

Speaking briefly on the theme, "Where do We Go from Here?" Ed Uebel, assistant circulation manager, pointed out the importance of courteous and satisfactory service, and sounded the keynote for a new goal in 1941—a maintained average of 7,000.

The War Today!

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

Disclosure that Hitler is building a defensive line of fortifications along the English channel is a further indication that he is getting set to try to hold the war to a stalemate if he fails to defeat Britain.

The immediate purpose of the defenses obviously is to prevent the allies from invading the continent through France or the low countries and thus getting at Germany. The underlying strategy is clear. Both sides in the conflict recognize that invasion of enemy territory with land forces likely will be necessary for a complete victory.

That is why Hitler for months has been sparring for an opening to invade England. And that's precisely why Britain already is figuring on invasion of Germany.

The fact that the fuhrer is building these defenses doesn't mean that he won't go all out to defeat England. That's his chief aim and it's a fair gamble that he will expend every ounce of his great military strength to that end.

But he is pretty far-sighted in military matters—let none doubt that. He is safeguarding himself in case he is unable to knock John Bull out.

Hitler apparently figures that if he can at least achieve a stalemate, this will leave him in control of the whole continent, clear through to the Russian border—and maybe beyond. He expects to organize the entire territory politically, economically and industrially and so build up the reich that it will be in an impregnable position.

As a matter of fact this isn't the first time that we have had evidence of the Nazi chief's line of thought. I have called your attention before to circumstances which to my mind indicated that he was preparing for a possible stalemate.

His effort has been to achieve politico-economic consolidation along with the necessary military developments. We have seen that in his cautious dealings with the French government and Spain, as well as in the Balkans.

Hitler cannot ignore the terrible menace of the British blockade which has done him and Mussolini so much damage already. He figures, however, that if he can hold the Anglo-allies off from the continent, he can reorganize agriculture and industry so as to offset the strangling effect of the blockade. Thus in due course the reich will wax all powerful.

The German political and military maneuvers in the Balkans are in my view calculated to strengthen preparations for a

Oregon Men Jailed in Dixon After Accident

Ross Moore and Ralph Brown of Oregon were delivered to the Lee county jail at about 12 o'clock last night by state police who had been summoned to investigate a wreck on U. S. route 51, about one mile north of Compton, Al. Jones and C. Maddren, also of Oregon, were released by the state officers after receiving medical attention at Mendota.

The four Oregon men were occupants of a car which figured in a collision with a stock truck belonging to Terry Dimond of LaSalle and driven by J. E. Jones of LaSalle about 9 o'clock last evening. Jones escaped uninjured, but the Oregon men were cut and bruised. The driver of the truck summoned state police and the four Ogle county men were taken to Mendota. According to reports at the sheriff's office, Moore and Brown created a disturbance at Mendota and state police delivered them to the Lee county jail where they are being held pending the filing of charges.

British Blockade French Food Ship

Montevideo, Uruguay, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The $199-ton French merchantman Mendoza, balked twice in attempts to get past the British blockade, slipped out to sea again today with a cargo of Argentine food for France.

Uruguayan Foreign Minister Alberto Guani said he would protest to the British minister if an investigation showed that Uruguayan waters had been violated.

In two attempts to run the blockade, Sunday night and again last night, the Mendoza was intercepted by a British naval patrol. Another French merchant vessel, the 10,816-ton Campana, was loading at Buenos Aires meanwhile, and three others were awaiting their turn.

Preliminary reports, the foreign minister said, indicated the British auxiliary cruiser Asturias had halted the Mendoza outside the three-mile limit. While a launch from the Asturias was approaching the freighter, Guani said, the Mendoza apparently drifted or moved into the three-mile zone and the Asturias withdrew with her launch.

Governor of Missouri Establishing Record for Tenure in State Office

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 14.—Gov. Lloyd C. Stark began establishing a record for tenure in office today while Republican Forrest Donnell and Democrat Lawrence McDaniel marked time in their battle for the executive's chair.

Donnell asked the state Supreme court yesterday for a writ of mandamus ordering Morris Osburn, Democratic Speaker of the House, to announce returns of the Nov. 5 election and declare him elected.

Donnell defeated McDaniel by 2,613 votes in more than 1,800,000 cast, on the basis of returns compiled by the Secretary of State, but his inauguration, scheduled yesterday, was prevented by the Democrat-controlled legislature's refusal to certify his election.

The legislature named a committee to investigate Democrats' charges of election irregularities. Under the schedule of cross-pleadings prepared by opposing counsel, it will be late this month before the mandamus action is argued orally and submitted to the court for action.

Meantime, Governor Stark retains the office to which Missouri law forbids re-election. It's the first time in history Missouri has passed a scheduled inauguration.

Of Interest to Farmers

PASTURES ARE TOPIC OF FARM SCHOOL MEETING

Adult Farmers Hold Second Session Here Last Evening

"Pasture Improvement and Management" was the topic discussed at the second meeting of the adult farmers evening school here last night. Since good pastures are essential to profitable livestock production, and also because of the importance of pasture in erosion control, the group found the evening's discussion very worth while.

From the standpoint of erosion control it was brought out that:

1. On land with even a moderate slope—3.7 per cent—corn planted every year would result in the removal of the top 7 inches of soil in only 50 years.
2. Under a corn-wheat-clover rotation this top layer would last 368 years.
3. Under sod it would require almost 30 centuries to remove this 7-inch layer of top soil.
4. On steeper slopes, corn planted on an 8 per cent grade for four years removes an average of 67 tons of soil an acre a year and 28 per cent of the rain ran off the surface, starting gullies and leaving the soil thirsty during dry periods. Planted to alfalfa with lime and phosphate applied, less than one-third of a ton of soil was lost yearly and only 4 1/2 per cent of the rain was lost as surface runoff.

In the discussion centering around the establishment and care of pastures the main conclusions reached were:

1. Pastures require as intelligent and careful fertilizer considerations as any farm crop.
2. Limestone is usually the most important single treatment required for pasture production.
3. After the limestone requirements are met, phosphate fertilizer should be considered. Available potash is sometimes deficient, also.

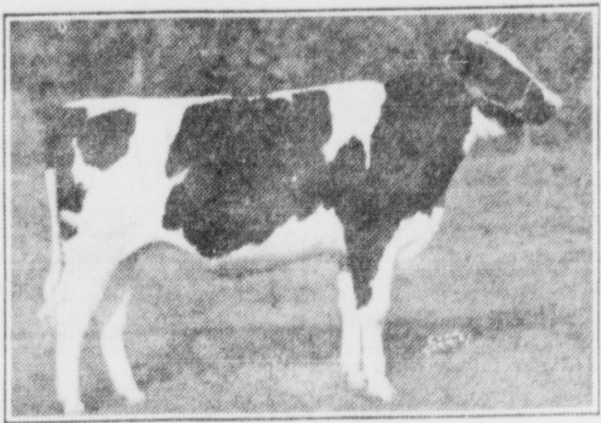

Applying Fertilizers—General Recommendations

1. Limestone: 2 to 4 tons per acre during seedbed preparation, or as a top-dressing.
2. Phosphorus: (a) Rock Phosphate from 500 to 2000 pounds per acre, preferably during seedbed preparation but may be top-dressed.
- (b) Superphosphate: 100 to 300 pounds an acre during seedbed preparation or as a top-dressing.
3. Nitrogen: Spring and fall applications of 100 to 400 pounds per acre of (a) sodium nitrate, or (b) ammonium sulfate.
4. Potash: When needed, 100 to 150 pounds of muriate of potash an acre may be applied in the spring or fall, one every three years.

Pasture Management

1. Overgrazing: A common fault. Continuous over-pasturing results in poor livestock gains and the destruction of pastures.
2. Alternate Grazing: Produces more feed. Animals should be permitted to graze one area thoroughly before being moved to the next.
3. Temporary Pastures: Used to supplement permanent pastures during dry periods and during the late fall. Gives permanent pasture an opportunity to develop a good cover and to replenish root reserves before winter.
4. Rolling in early spring is beneficial if heaving has been severe.
5. Sowing established pastures will prevent weeds.
6. Frequent harrowing with a chain harrow will scatter the droppings from the stock and encourage more uniform grazing.
7. Fall or Winter Applications of manure will materially increase the carrying capacity of pastures on lands low in fertility.

MAGEE HERD IS LEADER OF OGLE COUNTY GROUP

A herd of 18 R. H. cows owned by Richard Magee of Oregon led the Ogle County Dairy Herd Improvement association for December with an average production of 1467 pounds of milk and 51.1 pounds of fat on two-times-a-day milking. One of the 18 head was dry.

The next four herds were as follows:

Ward & Brown, owner, 23 R. H. breed, 1229 production milk, 41.0 production fat, one dry cow.

J. W. Hemingway, owner, 11 R. H. breed, 987 production milk, 40.3 production fat, three cows dry.

W. S. Morris & Son, owners, 16 R. H. breed, 1051 production milk, 36.5 production fat, two cows dry.

Elmer Hoover, owner, 13 R. H. breed, 829 production milk, 33.9 production fat, no cow was dry.

All were milked twice a day.

The association average for the month was 695 pounds of milk, 26.0 pounds of fat with 494 cows on test from 30 herds. Ninety-five of them were dry. During the month 23 unprofitable cows were sold to the butcher. Of the total 103 cows each produced over 40 pounds of fat apiece for the month.

The five high cows were:

Richard Magee, owner, R. H. breed, 2133 production milk 98.6 production fat.

J. W. Hemingway, owner, R. H. breed, 1658 production milk, 86.2 production fat.

Forrest Gillespie, owner, R. H. breed, 2034 production milk, 81.4 production fat.

Ward & Brown, owner, R. H. breed, 2328 production milk, 69.8 production fat.

Lee M. Gentry, owner, R. H. breed, 1733 production milk, 69.3 production fat.

All were milked twice a day.

The production is on the up and up, according to Willis H. Turner, tester. The association average is quite a little higher. With milk prices up dairy is considerable more profitable than it has been in recent months. With grain prices staying down as they have, dairymen can afford to feed plenty but just because it is cheap they should not over feed, Turner says.

Furthermore, he adds, with prices as they are, now is a good time to buy a little better herd sire. The herdsman that builds his herd up now when prices are good is the man who will have the production when prices are lower, Turner says.

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

When you think of the army and navy, you probably think of pork and beans. But you ought to read the U. S. army and navy menus now. We're giving our boys chicken these days!

Make no mistake about it: U. S. soldiers and sailors are going to be well fed—and rightly so.

Every food specialist I've ever heard of says a proper diet must include an egg a day. If you're good at figures, you can get some idea of the huge quantity of eggs the army and navy will need to feed their men properly.

And don't forget that a lot of these boys have been eating prepared cereals or a roll and coffee for breakfast. So the defense commission's purchases of poultry and eggs should to a large extent, mean an actual increase in the demand for them.

Representatives of the poultry and egg industry are meeting the coordinator of National Defense Purchases in Washington February 14. They are recommending what they believe is a sound policy for the purchase of poultry and eggs. There is no doubt that the government will buy a great quantity of them.

But men in uniform aren't the only people who are going to be eating well.

More Employment: Higher Prices

The Department of Commerce says individual incomes in 1940 may add up to more than 74 billion dollars, which is about 4 billion dollars more than in 1939.

"The national income is increasing at such a rate," I read today in a survey of business conditions. "That within the next eighteen months jobs will be provided for between 5 and 6 million men who are now idle."

When men are working, they and their families are eating—and they are eating as well as they can.

When figures get up into millions and billions, they are hard for most of us to grasp. But when the government takes figures on population and wages and food sales and boils them down, this fact comes out: When more people are working and wages are higher, they buy more poultry and eggs and they pay higher prices for them.

I hope we won't lose all sense of values, as we did in the last war, and have to pay for it afterwards. But I do hope you will recognize NOW that there is certain to be a good demand for poultry and eggs this year—and get some chicks in your brooder house just as soon as you can.

Sincerely yours,

Frank Priebe

Lee County Men Win Honors at Turkey Show

F. R. Keane of route 3 Dixon and E. V. Kennedy of Amboy, two of Lee county's veteran poultry raisers, recently received honors at the Illinois Turkey Growers association show held at Urbana, January 9 and 10.

As representatives of one of the largest turkey-growing areas in the state the two men attended the show and entered their birds in competition with about 175 other herds.

Mr. Keane won ribbons for grand champions of the show; first, second and fourth in heavy young hens; first and third in oven dressed and second in box packed. He received cup trophies for the grand championship (an honor which he won in 1939 also) and for the champion young hen.

Mr. Kennedy placed third in the class for heavy hens and first in box packed.

It is estimated that about 75,000 birds are raised in Lee county.

About the only development of interest has been the loss of the premium for May over the later months. Demand from shipping interests has been disappointing, while there has been a noticeable increase in country marketing. Such a large proportion of the crop has a moisture content higher than the requirements for sealing under the loan, that farmers apparently preferred to sell the water in the corn, rather than await a drying out process which may not materialize. Farm stocks as of January first, 1,810 million bushels, compare with 1,918 million bushels a year ago, and suggest a disappearance during the quarter of 920 million bushels, compared with 980 million bushels a year ago. The carryover October first, 555 million bushels, plus the crop harvested as grain this year, 2,175 million, gives a total of 2,731 million bushels.

OATS

There has been very little interest or activity, futures holding about steady at unchanged prices. Relative scarcity which has prevailed since after harvest, and the small commercial stocks are emphasized by the fact that stocks on farms are only 198 million bushels larger than last year, although the crop was 300 million bushels larger, the decrease in farm stocks during the last quarter, 219 million bushels being about 50 million bushels larger than last year.

Lard

Relieved of the depressing influence of January liquidation, prices have advanced sharply in a broad market, featured by the heaviest outside participation in many months, as well as pronounced activity of trade interests. Strength in hogs was the dominating influence, which in turn stimulated an approved demand for the cash article. January contracts show the extreme advance, and there were indications that a substantial short interest had over-stayed their market. Hogs have sold at the highest point in over four months, and the highest average in over 16 months, topping $7.75 on Friday. The country has responded with somewhat larger receipts, but the total at western points, 478,000 head, compared with 511,000 head last year. Domestic consumption in November, 122,000,000 pounds, set a new all time monthly record, and compared with 82 million pounds a year ago. Vegetable oil shortening and cotton seed oil futures followed the advance in lard, all deliveries of the latter selling at new highs for the season. The Department of Agriculture predicts higher prices for all fats and oils and increased consumption of meats as the year progresses.

BUTTER AND EGGS

There has been very little of interest in butter futures, January contracts being under rather persistent liquidation, with some new buying in the February. The spot market has been slow, 93 score holding around 30 1/2-31 1/4, and a small net movement out of storage. Production continues its contra-seasonal increase, and the production of margarine during November, 29,994,000 pounds, was 2 million pounds larger than last year. Milk production during January is above seasonal normal, and for the year 1941 promises to be the largest on record, but the Department of Agriculture states that consumption also promises to be much larger. An unusual feature of the world trade is that both Sweden and Denmark, normally heavy exporters, are now on a rationing basis.

The outstanding feature of the egg market has been liquidation of January contracts following first deliveries of the month on Thursday, the close showing a decline of a full two cents for the week at 16.75. Demand for refrigerators has been negligible as fresh receipts increased, and western collections for the week ending January 4th showed an increase of 23.62 per cent over the previous week, but were 7.73 per cent smaller than a year ago. There was some interest in October contracts, which show a fair advance for the week. After the close of the market on Friday, it was announced that a meeting will be held in Washington on January 14th to consider government purchases of fresh eggs for relief distribution.

U. S. May Become Larger Owner of Wheat in 1941

Chicago, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Uncle Sam stands a chance of becoming a large owner of wheat in 1941, market statistics indicate.

If this occurs, it will be the first time the government has had to take over a big amount of wheat since the ever-normal granary system of granting loans to producers was inaugurated.

Grain men said that if open market prices do not advance to a point where it is profitable business for producers to pay off obligations to the Commodity Credit Corporation and retain ownership, a large portion of the 272,000,000 bushels on which almost $200,000,000 have been loaned may revert to the government.

The corporation has announced it will take over all wheat stored in warehouses when loans mature within the next four months if the paper is not redeemed. More than 220,000,000 bushels of this grain are stored in warehouses, the remainder being on farms.

When this plan was announced

Loans Begin Maturing

Some wheat loans will begin maturing next month and the deadline is April 30. In most localities cash wheat is priced above the original loan rates, giving farmers a paper profit, but this is reduced and in some cases eliminated by accumulated storage and interest charges. On the basis of latest cash market prices wheat in Chicago and St. Louis is more than 12 cents over the loan rate, in Omaha and Kansas City slightly less than 10 cents over and in Minneapolis three to almost five cents over.

On terminal stored wheat maximum charges have accrued, with the exception of interest. Charges are now around 7 1/2 cents in most cases, traders said.

The loan wheat situation, under which a large portion of the domestic supply is held off the market, continued to exert a strengthening effect on prices the past week.

Minister's Son Slain
In Quarrel Over Girl

Ephrata, Pa., Jan. 14.—(AP)—A 23-year-old truck driver was held today in connection with the hammer slaying of a clergyman's son during a quarrel over a girl.

The battered body of Robert R. Hackman, 19, was found beside his automobile on a lonely mountain road near here on Sunday. State Police Sergeant E. R. Rubincam announced the truck driver had admitted the killing and would be charged with murder.

Hackman's father, Charles, is pastor of a religious sect similar to the Amish.

Sergeant Rubincam said the man arrested was an acquaintance of Hackman's and admitted forcing Hackman to drive to an isolated state game preserve early yesterday and then beating him over the head with the victim's hammer.

Rubincam said Hackman had been keeping company with a girl with whom his attacker had been friendly up to four months ago.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:
"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actually see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resent the intriques of the favorite are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests." From the Farewell Address.

A Bill to Destroy the Republic
(Chicago Tribune)
Mr. Roosevelt calls it: "A bill to further promote the defense of the United States and for other purposes." It is truthfully, "for other purposes." Many congressmen, when the bill came to them from the White House, said they were astounded. That in itself was a remarkable commentary on the measure. When Mr. Roosevelt astounds Congress, after its experience with him, he is indeed astounding.

This is a bill for the destruction of the American republic. It is a bill for an unlimited dictatorship with power over the possessions and lives of the American people, with power to make war and alliances for war. With this power, Mr. Roosevelt could do almost anything, notwithstanding, as is provided, "the provisions of any other law."

Mr. Roosevelt's power to do anything he pleased with the person and property of an American citizen to aid any governments he pleased to aid in any conflict which he chose to make his own would be unlimited.

Under this bill Mr. Roosevelt might "from time to time promulgate such rules and regulations as may be necessary and proper to carry out any of the provisions of this act and he may exercise any power or authority conferred upon him by this act through such department, agency, or officer as he shall direct."

From that cradle the American dictator will arise. Congress is asked to abdicate. All other laws are to be suspended. Mr. Roosevelt decides and his decision is final.

He would not exercise his authority subject to other laws which might define and limit him. He would be above law. The Johnson act would be repealed, the neutrality act would be repealed, and there would remain no restrictions whatever upon the executive. He could dispose, in any fashion he chose, of the products of American arsenals and shipyards, "or otherwise procure" any material he decided to transfer as he pleased, for what he wanted to take or for nothing at all, to any government he named.

This act, by extending the executive's power beyond its already dictatorial potential, would make Mr. Roosevelt the sole controller of American destiny. It would complete his authority over the productive capacity of the country, over its resources and its man power. Already he can take possession of plants and already he has begun to conscript men.

Can this bill be enacted? Observers in Washington think that the House of Representatives will submit. Mr. Roosevelt says that there can be no delay and it is feared that the House will abdicate. In the Senate there are men who say they will fight every inch of the way before they vote to deprive Congress of its voice and vote in this crisis. They may succeed and they may not.

The growing passion which is becoming heedless of the consequences is clamorous, and resistance in Washington has a desperate case. The supporters of the bill are of two kinds. One element would put the republic's future at stake and would willingly change its form of government, accepting a dictatorship if by this sacrifice they could help England. That, for them, is paramount and nothing weighs against it.

The other element seeks any method by which the form of government can be changed from one requiring the consent of the governed to one requiring their submission. They think they have created the climate in which free society will wither and die and in which a society governed by edict and not by law will flourish. They have waited for this opportunity and here it is.

Many people have been blinded by their fears and their emotions. They do not see the consequences which are about and upon them. They can be swayed to accept almost anything. The people of Great Britain and of our neighbor Canada were proud of their free institutions, of their rights, immunities, and privileges under law, but they have seen how war has deprived them of some of their most cherished ideals and practices. It is possible now for their people to be put in concentration camps without trial, merely by the word of authority, and that will happen here.

We are in an atmosphere in which men are animated to acts their sober judgment would reject as unjust and inhuman. War will do that to ordinarily fair minded people of honest and honorable conduct.

The German reichstag and the Italian chamber of deputies consented to their own destruction. The Russian дума died, but it did not consent. Is the American Congress to abdicate and consent to the destruction of the republic? For national defense are we to spend billions and "for other purposes" open our arms to the invading system of government?

To prohibit law enforcement officers from intercepting messages no matter what the circumstances may be, is to guarantee the safe use of channels of wire and wireless communication to spies and criminals.

A man fighting for life, other things being equal, will put up a harder battle than a man fighting to keep something he took from somebody else.—Booth Tarkington, novelist.

Those who seek fame do not know what it is. Those who know what it is won't seek it.—Senator Henry F. Ashurst, on retiring from long service.

News Behind THE NEWS
By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or part strictly prohibited).

Washington, Jan. 14.—A puzzling experience with the British-Dutch rubber monopoly has been encountered by the defense commission, state and war departments. It may furnish a contribution to congressional thought in considering the lend-lease credit bill.

This government officially announced it was terminating rubber purchases a few days back because prices were getting too high, but the announcement was not very revealing of what happened. Here's the story:

Our defense experts calculated the security of this country requires a stock pile of upwards of 300,000 tons of rubber. This government made a barter deal with Britain, trading cotton for rubber—85,000 tons of it—and about 70,000 tons has been delivered. There is no complaint in the government about that deal. But thereafter, a rubber reserve company was set up within RFC to complete the accumulation of 200,000 more tons. The state department made an agreement with the International Rubber Control Committee (operated as a world rubber monopoly by British and Dutch growers and shippers). The arrangement was that we would buy as long as the price remained below a certain level, and when it went above that figure we would stop until it came down again.

Much of the world market for rubber has been closed by the British blockade around Europe. The IRC was not even allowing normal production of rubber at the time our program started. Why the prices should go up, therefore, is not quite clear to authorities here. The IRC now claims to be producing its limit to meet demands, but there is a feeling around in the government that the monopoly could produce much more if it were not trying to protect the high price.

The conclusion has naturally developed that this government has been stalemated in this defense effort by the action of the monopoly.

Something will have to be done about it, and soon.

It is true private American rubber companies have been continuing to buy more than they need, because the government requested them to store additional stocks. They are not protected on price, and must meet IRC's figure for their commercial needs. (Maybe this is one reason IRC decided the price should be higher.) But the accumulation of these private stock piles has just about reached a limit. While the companies stop increasing their reserves, this nation's defense program insofar as rubber is concerned, will stop, half-completed.

One perfect solution is available. If under this new lend-lease bill, the Secretaries of War and Navy could get payment from Britain immediately in rubber, tin and other raw defense materials, our defense requirements could be met as well as Britain's. The value of what we need is only a fraction of the unlimited billions of dollars of war materials that will go to Britain, but under such an arrangement Britain would not have to wait until after the war to start paying something "in kind". Her government could buy things we need from her own commercial producers and turn them over to us.

This would get completely away from the dollar mark that Roosevelt wished to avoid with his plan. As it stands now "the silly old dollar sign" is only avoided as far as the British are concerned. The U. S. treasury is going to pay out good dollars in cash for everything that is sent to Britain.

Federal direction of production ("priorities") is the word they use for it is going to start sooner than you have thought. The reorganization which Stettinius has directed to set up a priorities control board is not window dressing this time. First action is expected within a few weeks.

This will initiate the government use of its powers to direct manufacturers on what to produce. Full use of this great control is expected before mid-summer.

Every once in a while something crops up to suggest what we are preparing for. Navy Secretary Knox has asked congress to pass a bill removing trial of army and navy officers to the federal courts in cases where their official acts are involved. He pointed out the law already provides this "in time of war".

Deaths

Local—
MRS. CHAS. W. FLOCK
Mrs. Charles W. Flock of this city, resident of this locality for a number of years, died very suddenly last evening while riding in an automobile with her son-in-law Herbert W. Klosterman. They were driving from the home of Mrs. Clara Miller, 405 Galena avenue, to the Klosterman home, when she was stricken. A physician was summoned upon arrival at the Klosterman home and pronounced life extinct. She had suffered a sudden heart attack and expired almost instantly.

Deputy Coroner Paul Sodergren conducted an inquest at the Preston funeral home at 10:30 today, the jury determining that death resulted from a sudden heart attack.

Mrs. Flock was born in Fairhaven, Ill., Feb. 22, 1853, and is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Clara Miller, with whom she had made her home for the past 12 years, and Mrs. Emma Klosterman; and five sons, Fred, Ed, Roy, Charles and Elmer, all of Dixon. Funeral services will be held at the Preston funeral home Thursday morning at 10 o'clock followed by interment in Chapel Hill Memorial park.

Dr. Floyd F. Blewfield, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. Entombment will be at Oakwood memorial mausoleum.

Janette Morgan, widow of the late J. C. Williams, was born in Broome county, New York, Jan. 24, 1852, coming to Lee county with her parents in 1865. She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Ella Phillips at home, Mrs. Marie Joyce of Dixon, Mrs. George Bennett of Mitchell, S. D., and Mrs. Stanley Treudt, Granville; a son, John L. Williams of Parkersburg, S. D.; a sister, Miss Callie B. Morgan of Dixon and eleven grandchildren.

Suburban—
ROSALIE E. BARRY
The funeral of Miss Rosalie E. Barry, 95, Byron's oldest resident, who passed away at 2:30 o'clock Monday morning at the home of a nephew, T. Clyde Gill, will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at his home, the Rev. Ralph E. Vit of the Byron United Brethren church officiating. Burial will be in the Byron cemetery.

Miss Barry, affectionately known to the community as "Aunt Rose" was born on the farm homestead three miles west of Byron on Aug. 31, 1845, the daughter of John and Rachel Barry. Her parents were pioneer Ogle county settlers who came overland from the east to Byron in 1844.

Miss Barry resided on the family homestead until 1914 when, with her two brothers, James S. and Andrew D. Barry, she moved to Byron. Her childhood was spent in a log cabin when wolves and deer abounded in northern Illinois and there were more Indians than white settlers in the community. At that time a trip to Chicago for supplies took a month by ox team.

Twelve years ago Miss Barry, who was the last member of a family of ten children, suffered a paralytic stroke which affected her speech and left her an invalid. Despite her invalidism, she kept in touch with community events and maintained a keen interest in national affairs.

She was a sister of the late Mrs. Agnes Gill and George P. Barry. Seven other brothers and sisters preceded her in death.

Miss Gosch was born on the family homestead July 16, 1896, and her death, which came after an illness of only one week's duration, is a shock to her family and many friends. She was the daughter of Marcus and Anna Gosch and was preceded in death by her mother, who died in 1914, and a brother who passed away in infancy. She is survived by her father and a brother, Fred.

BETHEL EVANGELICAL
The second week of evangelistic services are being held in Bethel United Evangelical church on North Galena avenue. Rev. A. F. Mahler, Jewish Christian evangelist from Elmira, N. Y., began his second week of meetings last Sunday, when large audiences attended the services. Meetings are being held every evening this week except Saturday evening, at 7:30 p. m. Rev. R. S. Wilson is the pastor of the church.
Over eight hundred persons attended the seven services of the first week, and the number will probably be larger this week due to the large attendance on Sunday evening when the evangelist explained Jewish customs. During this week it was announced that he would speak on the Second Coming of Christ. Two evenings would be devoted to slides illustrating the Book of Revelations. Much of the symbolism of this book is clearly explained by one who understands Jewish symbolism. On Thursday or Friday evening, the Passover as celebrated by the Jews will be demonstrated with all the articles used.
A special feature of the services is the singing of several choruses some of which were written by the evangelist.

SERIAL STORY

CHAPTER VIII

AT 5 o'clock that day, Martha Marshall was still enmeshed in the coils of her inner problem. How could she indicate to Paul Elliott, without hurting him, and yet without letting him know the real reason, that she preferred not to go out with him any more?

Paul opened the door to his office, and Martha seized her powder puff hastily.

"Ready to leave, Martha?" he called. "Wait a minute, I'll be right with you."

She steeled herself. She looked up at him. "Don't bother about me, Paul," she managed to say. "I—I don't feel awfully well. I want to go right home and get in bed."

He was all concern, immediately. She wanted to kick herself. She should have told him some story of being expected somewhere... catching a store before it closed... anything.

"I'm all right," she repeated tensely. "Just a headache." The phone in his office rang. "There's your phone," she got up and slipped out while he was still talking.

THE next morning she avoided his eyes, was thankful when he had to go down to the production department to straighten out a tangle. It might take all day.

But at quitting time, he was back in the office.

"Feel like some chow mein?" "No. I—I'm going home and cook Butch some hamburger. I've got a lot to do. I'm awfully tired."

His face fell. "I was looking forward to it. After all, there's no one waiting for you—"

"There's Butch."

"Suppose we stop off and buy the hamburger, you fry it while I walk Butch, and then—"

Martha averted her head, pretending to fish out the crasser and the pencils from under the legs of her typewriter. "No, Paul. Thanks, anyway."

"But why not?"

"No!" This time, her voice was sharp. Paul stared at her, his thick dark eyebrows a straight line over his brown eyes.

SHE walked home. A long walk, with her head high and chin up. She hoped there'd be a letter from Bill waiting in the box. But there wasn't. While she fried the meat for Butch, even while she walked behind him, later, she remembered Paul's surprised eyes, his set mouth.

Mrs. Kelly, the cleaning woman, was waiting for her in the hall when she and Butch returned. "Could you let me have a dollar on what you owe me?" she asked. "I know tomorrow's Saturday, but I can't wait for this." Her grandchild, she explained, was ill. "I gotta pay at the drugstore for prescriptions."

"Oh, that's all right. I'm sorry he's sick."

Martha said, disliking to tell her now, but knowing it had to be done, "I've been meaning to tell you, about the cleaning. There isn't as much to do as there used to be, and—"

"Oh, yes, there is!" cut in the old woman argumentatively. "That friend of your husband's, he still comes. I can tell by the newspapers on the floor, and pipe ashes all around and didn't he cook up a mess of something sticky in that skillet like he always does?"

Martha remembered the concoction he called "slumgullion" he had insisted on making that night they played two-handed bridge. Her face burned.

"Mrs. Kelly," she said evenly, "Mr. Elliott will not be calling any more." The words seemed very loud in the suddenly still room.

The cleaning woman eyed her shrewdly. Those little blue eyes, in their bed of wrinkles, were like the eyes of a bright, inquisitive bird. "Oh, so Mr. Elliott won't be calling, eh? How disappointed that Miss Trent upstairs is gonna be! Her with her tattling about him stayin' all hours." She folded her fat, chapped arms. "You're a smart girl, Mrs. Marshall. Husband's friend or no husband's friend, it don't do when a man pays too much attention to a pretty woman all by herself."

"I think we'd better get back to discussing the cleaning!"

"Yes'm," Mrs. Kelly said, deflated.

LONG after Mrs. Kelly had gone, Martha stood there in the foyer, motionless. Everybody had the same idea! How stupid she had been! How blind! But as long as it wasn't true—as long as she wouldn't go out alone with Paul again—it didn't matter.

Bill was the only one who counted. He had never dreamed of such a thing. She held to that, desperately. That Bill had trusted her, that he'd trusted Paul. He

MISS LORD OF POLO REVEALS APPROACHING WEDDING DATE

"Jeanne and Austin—March 22" was the legend which Miss Virginia Powell found printed on the ace of hearts when Miss Jeanne Lord, daughter of the A. H. Lords of Polo entertained a dozen friends at bridge last evening. The legend, enlarged upon, means that Miss Lord has chosen Saturday, March 22, as the date for her marriage to Austin Stahl, son of the Henry Stahlers of near Polo.

Pink and white appointments were used at the card tables. Centerpieces were miniature bride's bouquets, given as favors to the party guests.

Score favors in the evening's card games were shared by Miss Vivian Hicks, Mrs. Leo Deets, and Miss Betty Maxey. There was also a prize for Miss Powell, who discovered the announcement.

The bride-to-be conducts a kindergarten at the Polo public library. Her fiancé is engaged in farming.

New Necklace Silhouette

A heart-shaped bonnet of dotted Swiss organza in watermelon pink with matching bib-necklace is a good example of the new necklace silhouette in spring hats. The bib is attached to the brim with tiny bows of matching organza. The bonnet—obviously not intended for day and in day out wear—was shown in Fashion Futures, New York's showing of styles for spring and summer.

Analysis of Tests Shows Waterway Flow Insufficient

Chicago, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Experimental flushing of the Illinois waterway by sharply increased diversion of Lake Michigan water last December "did not scour solids out of Brandon pool, Joliet, but resulted in deposition of large tonnages in the pool."

The statement was included today in a report on the test, run from noon Dec. 2 to noon Dec. 12, by Dr. F. W. Mohlman, director of laboratories for the Chicago Sanitary District. He submitted it to Monte M. Lemann of New Orleans, special master who has been hearing evidence for the U. S. Supreme court on Illinois' petition for increased diversion in 1941 and 1942.

Total flow at Lockport, Ill., during the test averaged 9,973 cubic feet per second and the diversion (flow less Chicago water pumpage) was 8,430 CFS, maximum flow capacity of the drainage canal at the time, the report said.

Samples for chemical analysis were collected at 14 stations, the most important being at Cass street, Joliet, just above Brandon pool, and at Brandon bridge, just below Brandon dam. Some 8,970 analyses were made.

Tests showed sludge 2 to 2½ feet deep at the bottom of the pool equivalent to about 500,000 cubic yards and that "the potential ability of the sludge to create odors in the pool has not been lessened. Throughout the winter the sludge lies dormant because the temperature is too low to generate the foul gases which produce odors."

"Indicator of Purity"

Dissolved oxygen—the "indicator of purity"—was nearly zero at Lockport prior to the test, increased during the test to a maximum of 10 parts per million, then quickly dropped to 1 P. P. M. after the test, and an almost identical situation occurred at the lower end of the Brandon pool.

This led to a conclusion that "with the approach of warm weather Brandon pool will again become foul and odorous. The dissolved oxygen at Lockport will certainly drop to zero long before the summer of 1941 unless the diversion of water from Lake Michigan is increased progressively as the temperature of the water increases."

Dr. Mohlman added that "the foul and odorous putrefaction will be concentrated in the pool unless relieved by diversion of sufficient water from Lake Michigan to maintain at least one P. P. M. of dissolved oxygen in the water at the lower end of the pool, as requested in the modified petition of the state of Illinois."

He said tests at Marseilles, 45 miles below Lockport and at Chillicothe, 112 miles below, showed "only a very moderate increase of suspended solids and oxygen demand."

Fruit Growers to Meet at Rockford on Wednesday

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 14.—With a larger fruit crop in prospect and with consumer incomes increasing, fruit growers in this section of the state will make their plans for the coming year in the annual meeting of the Northern Illinois Horticultural Society to be held here Wednesday, January 15, in the Lafayette hotel.

The outlook for vegetables and potatoes will be summarized by Lee A. Somers, associate in vegetable gardening extension, at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, while V. W. Kelley, horticulture extension specialist, will discuss new developments in the control of scab and fruit drop in the apple.

Noon luncheon will be served at the Lafayette Hotel, where all the sessions will be held.

The business session and election of officers are scheduled for 1 p. m. This will be followed by "Caring for the Home Fruit Garden," a discussion by Kelley; "Problems in the Production of Sweet Corn and Tomatoes," by J. B. Corns, extension vegetable specialist, and "Problems In Insect Control," L. H. Shropshire, State Natural History Survey.

First Lesson in Store Arithmetic at H. S. This Eve

The first meeting for the courses in Retail Store Records and Store Arithmetic will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the book-keeping room in the high school building. The Dixon Chamber of Commerce has received a large enrollment of business men and employees for the courses and the Board of Education has employed William F. Klingbeil to teach the courses.

Mr. Klingbeil's educational background and experiences make him a most valuable teacher. Students will find him capable of presenting subject matter in a clear and concise manner. His broad background enables him to teach his subjects in the light of actual business problems.

One day each week the instructor will be available to local business men who are represented in the course. If his services are desired, he will advise and counsel, without cost, business men and their employees in regard to individual problems.

Prospects for Illinois FruitCrop are Normal

Carbondale, Ill., Jan. 14.—(AP)—Fruit growers attending the annual two day meeting of the Southern Illinois Horticulture Society here agreed today that prospects were good for a normal yield of peaches, apples, pears and strawberries, barring damage by severe weather during the next few months.

Harry Day, manager of the Carbondale Fruit Exchange, said the early winter weather had been too mild to cause damage in southern Illinois but freezing temperatures in western apple producing countries had resulted in an undetermined amount of damage near Quincy.

Uncle Sam to Make Another Effort to 'Rescue' Citizens

Washington, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Uncle Sam is making one more effort to bring his worried and war-trapped nieces and nephews back from Europe.

The state department, assisted by the American Red Cross, is repatriating cash-shy or destitute Americans who have remained in France through the war, either by choice or circumstances beyond their control.

Most have lost their property or their jobs and find it impossible to continue to live there under German occupation of northern France, increasing unemployment, and severe food rationing.

The Red Cross has undertaken to provide railway transportation and maintenance through Spain and Portugal to Lisbon.

The state department, utilizing a small emergency fund, is sending the destitute Americans money—against promissory notes—sufficient for minimum passage on steamships from Lisbon to the United States. The offer expires January 31.

1,200 in England
Officials estimated that approximately 600 persons thus would be repatriated, including 500 from German-occupied France (mostly Paris), and 100 from unoccupied France.

Officials here estimate that, even when the 600 are repatriated, about 1,500 Americans will remain in France, mostly along the Riviera. It was explained that they have "roots" in the country through birth, marriage, or length of residence.

Twelve hundred Americans in England would like to leave the bombings behind and come home, officials said, but there is no prospect at present that they can be repatriated as a group.

Inauguration Day One of Gayest in Capital's History

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 14.—(AP)—This state Capital city returned to near normal today after one of the greatest party days in its history yesterday when Governor Dwight H. Green was inaugurated as the 30th Illinois chief executive.

The climax of program of ceremony and festivity came last night when the largest crowd ever to jam the state armory pushed and shoved to dance at the inaugural ball.

Mayer John W. Kapp estimated that nearly 12,000 persons visited the building's large auditorium, normally planned to accommodate 1,900 dancing couples and 2,500 persons seated in its balcony. An additional 3,000 were estimated to have danced in the statehouse to music of two orchestras relayed by loud speaker from the armory.

Elmer N. Bradley, armory custodian, said nearly 100 men and women were overcome in the armory press, but reported that all revived quickly when they were given treatment by city firemen.

Governor and Mrs. Green visited the ball with their two children, Nancy and Gloria, and a party of newly-elected state officers. Despite the overcrowded crowd, the ball was the scene of finery and holiday spirit.

Many From Out-of-Town
Evidences of a large influx of visitors were plentiful in hotels and business establishments. One large drug store exhausted its supply of sandwich material after re-ordering foodstuffs three times. Restaurants crossed many items from their menus early in the evening and had difficulty seating and serving their customers.

The demands of the inauguration and its attendant festivities were too much for local florists who were unable to supply corsages and boutonnières to late customers. Hundreds of bouquets and floral pieces were displayed at the armory, the Executive Mansion and in statehouse offices of the newly-inaugurated state officials.

Hotels were full two days before the inaugural and late arrivals reported they had to seek accommodations in Jacksonville, 35 miles away, and in other nearby towns.

Several thousand persons visited the Executive Mansion early last evening to greet the new state officers at a reception.

Britain Reports Four Ships Lost in a Week

London, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Four merchantmen totalling 14,687 tons were sunk during the week ended Jan. 8, one of the lightest week's losses since the war began, the admiralty reported today.

All four were British vessels. In only four other weeks since the outbreak of the war have the reported merchantman losses been lighter.

An authoritative source ascribed the decrease to three factors: 1. General weather conditions for the week were bad, preventing extensive activity by German planes.

2. The Royal Air Force has "heavily bombed" Nazi naval bases in Germany and along the French coast.

3. The number of convoy escort vessels has been increasing "gradually" since higher losses were reported.

Director of Movie Finds Needed Star in Orphans' Home

Hollywood, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The fairy queen touched Cinderella with her wand...

So today six-year-old Arlene Jackson, who has never seen a movie, becomes a movie actress.

Last week Arlene was playing in a children's home while her mother worked all day at a factory. Today she has a private dressing room, a stand-in, a wardrobe mistress and a hair-dresser. Most important, she has an income of $25 a day.

It started when Director George Stevens, trying to cast a child for an orphan's part, remarked after two days of interviews:

"I'm sick and tired of affected Hollywood brats. Let's go hunting for someone new."

Where better, reasoned Stevens, could he find a child to play an orphan's role than in an orphanage? He and Martha Cheavens, author of the screenplay, set out. They visited most of the city's orphanages without success, then stopped in at the children's home.

"Do you know any recitations?" Stevens inquired as Arlene was brought in.

"I know the story of the three wise men," she replied, and for several minutes the director and writer listened as she told it.

Next morning, a limousine stopped before the home. A welfare worker took Arlene to the studio for wardrobe fittings and a screen test. She came through like a veteran.

Then the "Fairy Queen" Miss Cheavens, took her to lunch. Ice cream pie topped it off.

"That was nice," Arlene told her. "I never tasted any before."

Bulgaria Denies Any Foreign Troops There

Sofia, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Bulgaria issued a formal denial today that any foreign troops had entered this country, thereby taking the first official published notice of foreign reports of German troop movements here.

The denial was made through the government news agency. It said further there had been no representations to foreign powers concerning such a possibility.

The agency said it was "authorized to declare that no foreign troops have been entering Bulgaria and the Bulgarian government has made no moves toward foreign governments, as there has been no ground for such moves."

Reports persisted, especially in German circles, that there would be Bulgarian cabinet changes by the middle of February, with the possibility of a more pro-Nazi regime.

OFFICIAL BASEBALL MOVIE

The American League's official baseball movie was given a premier showing (for this area at least) last night at the Methodist church. The Chicago White Sox were the stars of the picture. "Batting Around the American League," you see, is the technique of pitching portrayed by Ted Lyons, Buck Newsum, and Joe DiMaggio. Luke Appling, Jimmy Foy, Hank Greenberg and others appear as the principal players of all that's perfect in batting technique. The film also has its comedy with Jimmy Dykes who does a skit in which he attempts to convince umpire Summers he is wrong by letting him listen on a portable radio to what a radio announcer is saying about a questioned play.

GAMES TONIGHT

Several important mid-week games are on tap tonight with a tempting menu for the neighborhood fans. Morrison of the Rock River conference goes to Erie; Shabbona to Steward; Rock Falls to Amboy for a conference game; Spring Valley to Mendota; Rolo to Paw Paw; Community at Sterling and Princeton at DePue.

GUARDSMEN OFF GUARD

The Army's national defense program received something of a jolt at the Army last night when the National Guardsmen lost a basketball conflict to the state hospital workers, 76 to 45. The hospital victors were paced by Worth Windmiller who scored 27 points on 12 field goals and three free shots. Horsley counted 22 points for the winners with 10 buckets and two gratis shots. Crabtree led the army team with 21 points with 10 field goals and one free throw. Others on the National Guard team included Fordham, Sutton, McGinnis, Burrs, Stauffer, Hepfer and Reilly.

TATTLE TALES

With his "best girl" in the gallery the Dixon high school football team's quarterback had some difficulty at the bowling alleys the other night and just when he wanted to make an impression he rolled a 102.

HALL OF FAME

With a 140 average used as a ticket to the hall of fame, there are several in the Ladies' Bowling league who are making the pins spill in classic style these nights. After last night's rolling the high rollers of the circuit are: Legore with 146; Miller with 140; Klein 150; Poole 143; Smith 150; P. Carson 150; L. McCordie 143; Slaats 142; Egan 140; Cook 145.

COACH IS ILL

John Mitchell, coach at Franklin Grove, has been at his home in Dixon since Friday due to a throat infection and was not able to follow his team to Lee last night.

Knacks Win 4th League Victory on Rochelle Court

The Dixon Knacks, current leaders in the Rochelle independent league, last night counted their fourth loop victory at the expense of Holcomb, 20 to 10.

With most of the scoring done in the beginning and closing quarters, the Knacks started the game with a 7 to 0 lead before relaxing with only one point in the second frame and two in the third. Holcomb was held scoreless in the first period and counted only one free throw before the half.

Lewis, with nine points, was high scorer of the game as he led the Knacks' charge. Storz and Merham each led the Holcomb team with three points.

The Knacks go to Byron tomorrow night and will leave the Soda Grill at 7 o'clock.

CAGE LEAGUE IS OPENED AT POLO

Polo's basketball league opened last night with two good games and in the first Cooper's No. 1 team came out on top by a score of 20 to 10. The Coopermen took a strong lead in the first half, 13 to 7, and were never stopped. This game was a little rugged with 17 fouls, but only four of these were "made."

The second game was won by team No. 3, led by R. Dennis with a score of 22-21. Noakes' team No. 4 led at the half 11-8, but the pace became a little too fast for some of the boys. Bomberger whose name was unintentionally omitted last week is playing on team No. 4.

Several of the boys were unable to attend the opening games, but officials hope that the "humps, etc." will be more kind next week. Monday, January 20, will bring together teams No. 2 and No. 4 at 7:30, and teams No. 1 and No. 3 at 9:00. There is still room for more players on each team and interested players may contact any of the four managers: Team No. 1, "Red" Cooper; team No. 2, Paul Webster; team No. 3, Russell Dennis; team No. 4, which will be named "The Monarchs" and sponsored by Naylor's Market, is managed by Jimmy Noakes.

WHITE SOX RECEIVED SIGNED CONTRACT OF JIMMY WEBB
Chicago, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox received the signed contract of Utility infielder Jimmy Webb today, leaving the club with only five players outside the fold.

The five unsigned are Pete Appleton, Clint Brown, Joe Haynes, Larry Rosenthal and Rookie Warren Martin.

No contract activity was reported at the Chicago Cubs' offices although Al Todd, veteran catcher, dropped by for a brief visit.

Cub officials had nothing to say about the broadcast of Rookie Catcher Clyde McCullough from Nashville, Tenn., that he wanted more than $6,000 for the 1941 season. McCullough, who had a fine season at Buffalo last summer, was quoted as saying he wanted his contract boosted to $7,500.

LAKESHIRE MARTY BOWLING WOMEN TAKE LOOP LEAD

Dr. Bend's Quintet Sets New High Team Series

When a woman gets a little bored with things, they say she either changes her hat style or redecorates the living room. It seems to be the same with the bowling league standings which have run along without much interference lately and without any changes in the records.

Last night, however, the Lakeshire Marty quintet won two games to climb into the sole lead as the former co-partners for top honors, the Rainbow, dropped a notch after losing three games to the Dr. Bend's team.

The records were changed when Dr. Bend's team rolled 2716 for a new high team series which was 49 pins better than the mark previously set by the Kathryn Beard team.

Assume Lead
In moving to top spot the Lakeshire Marty team won two games from Frazier Roofing company. Kinn set the pace for the winners with a 415 series and Johnson rolled 367 for the losers.

Dr. Bend's quintet won three games from Rainbow Inn with A. Kellen counting an excellent 508 series with 211 in her second game for the winners, Legore led the losers with 467.

Soda Grill won two games from Amboy Royal Blue with Myers counting 426 for the winners and Spangler rolling 417 for the losers. Ray Carson's team won two games from Budweiser Gardens in spite of a big handicap disadvantage. A 471 series by Meinke led the winners while Ellis rolled 439 for the losers.

Buicks won two games from the Moose Ladies with Huyett counting 440 for the winners and Moore rolling 406 for the losers.

Bon Ton won two games from Kathryn Beard's team as Cook scored 476 to lead the Bon Ton and H. Klein chalked up 465 for the losers.

Dixon Sophs to Battle Belvidere for Lead

Lee Five Defeats Franklin Grove for Second Time

It was Blue Monday for the Franklin Grove cagers last night as they dropped their fifth game of the season at Lee, 38 to 33, in a non-conference tilt.

The high-scoring power of Richardson and V. Prestegaard was too much for the Grovers and it was the second time this season the Lee team had asserted its supremacy.

The hosts scored an 8 to 6 lead in the first quarter and went ahead to make it 18 to 13 at half-time. The Grovers made it hot for the Lee five in the third period by coming up to within five points of the winners.

Richardson, Lee forward, counted eight field goals and three charity shots for 19 points while V. Prestegaard, playing center, added 15 Maronde was high man for the Mitchellmen with 11 points. The Grovers will be hosts to Sullman Valley Friday night in a Route 12 conference game.

Paul Brown Is Likely Choice as Ohio Coach

Columbus, O., Jan. 14.—(AP)—Barring unforeseen developments, they'll probably be painting Paul Brown's name on the door of the head football coach's office at Ohio State university before night-fall.

The school's athletic board meets today (10:30 a. m. C. S. T.) and it is expected to end the hunt for a successor to Francis A. Schmidt, who resigned Dec. 16, by voting unanimously to give the Massillon, O., high school marvel a shot at the "big time."

The day dawped without official pronouncement, but the tip-off to Brown's strengthened bid came from Minneapolis with the announcement of Dr. George Hauser, Minnesota line coach, that he was "perfectly happy" in his present job and therefore was withdrawing as a candidate for the Ohio position.

Hauser Is Liked
Hauser was known to be regarded highly by athletic board members and some reports said that at least two were undecided between him and Brown. Brown previously was believed to have been the favorite of eight or nine of the 11 board members.

Massillon, a city of 20,000, already boasted one native son in the Big Ten conference coaching ranks, Harry Stuhldreher at Wisconsin. Both Brown and Stuhldreher were Massillon high school quarterbacks.

In declaring the match a tie, the N. B. A. stipulated that he winner would have to fight Gus Lesnevich of New Jersey, its third "outstanding challenger" within 60 days.

Lesnevich will be offered an early fight with Christoforidis, perhaps in Cleveland. If he refuses, the association indicated it would name Christoforidis the "undisputed" king.

The New York State Athletic commission still recognizes Billy Conn, who grabbed the title from Bettina, as champion but the N. B. A. says he abdicated by failing to defend the title.

Scaling 174 to enjoy a five-and-a-half pound weight advantage, southpaw Bettina started fast and showed promise of wearing Christoforidis down. However, the European staged a brilliant rally midway in the fight, opened Bettina's right eye and had the New Yorker reeling in the eighth round.

Both judges and Referee Joe Sedley, who took one round away from Bettina for butting gave the fight to the Greek. The Associated Press score sheet gave Christoforidis six rounds and Bettina four, with five even.

BROOKLYN SCHEDULES 'B' TEAM FOR GIANTS
Brooklyn—It may have been just a quick of schedule making but Brooklyn Dodgers baseball fans are checking over a spring exhibition schedule listing which lists the Brooklyn "B" team as opposition for the New York Giants in Miami. The "A" team, supposedly the first Brooklyn outfit, will be busy elsewhere while the second team takes on Brooklyn's hottest rival far behind the Dodgers in 1940 standings.

Celebration of Navy day was first sponsored by the Navy league of the U. S. in 1922.

TWO FEATURE BASKETBALL TILTS TO BE PLAYED FOR BENEFIT OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS CHAPTER

For the benefit of the Lee County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, four outstanding basketball teams of this section will offer the sports fans of this city and area two top-notch games at the Dixon high school gymnasium on Friday night, January 24.

The teams offering their services for this worthy cause include the Dixon Knacks, current leaders in Rochelle independent league, who will play an Oglesby team in the nightcap game. In the preliminary tilt the Dixon state hospital quintet will meet the Walz Lunch of Sterling.

The first game will start at 7 o'clock and admission for the twin bill will be 50 cents.

The proceeds of this event will be used by the local Infantile Paralysis chapter to purchase leg arm braces for the three known cases of infantile paralysis in Lee county. Heretofore, only the President's Birthday Ball has been held to raise funds. The need is greater this year, however, and additional events are planned.

Ohio State Maintains Lead in Big 10 Cage Race; Wisconsin Defeats Purdue

Chicago, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Ohio State may be just a "front runner" in the Big Ten basketball race, but nobody can knock the Buckeyes out of the league leadership in the next two weeks.

The Bucks, 67 to 38 victors over Chicago last night, don't play again until Jan. 25 when they take on Wisconsin at Madison, Indiana. Only other team which hasn't lost a conference game, likewise has no games scheduled during this lull, thus making it impossible for any of the other eight teams to endanger their position before the latter part of the month.

The Maroons, making their conference debut last night, stayed dangerously close to the Bucks in the first half, trailing by only six points. But in the second period the Ohioans rolled up 47 points while holding Chicago to 24.

Northwestern, likewise, was a good first half team, reaching in termination tied with Indiana, 19 all. But the Hoosiers walked away with a 52 to 32 margin, although the Wildcats limited their age, Bill Menke, to six points. Coach Branch McCracken used 14 men and nine of them scored from the field.

Badgers Win Overtime
Purdue's Frosty Sprol and Don Blanken accounted for 34 points between them but that wasn't enough to whip Wisconsin, the Badgers taking a 48 to 42 overtime decision. This was the defending champions' second defeat in three Big Ten appearances. Wisconsin scored 10 points in the extra session, limiting Purdue to two field goals by Sprol.

Iowa's unpredictable five defeated Minnesota, 41 to 34, leaving both teams in a tie for fifth place. The Gophers held a 21-16 edge at half time, but the Hawkeyes set up a superb defense in the second half while scoring 25 points themselves.

Illinois was the only one of five winners which took a comfortable lead in the first half and won handily, giving Michigan its third defeat of the campaign, 47 to 41. Hoot Evers got 18 points for the Illini, four more than Jim Mander scored for the Wolverines.

The Saturday schedule calls for three games, Illinois at Northwestern, Minnesota at Chicago and Wisconsin at Michigan. The three home teams will be after their first conference triumph.

Greek Fighter Wins Bout With Melio Bettina

Cleveland, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The National Boxing association geared its machinery today to grind out an "undisputed" world light-heavyweight champion as Anton Christoforidis, the speedy warrior from Greece, clamped on the title belt.

The handsome European pounded out a close 15-round decision over ex-Champion Melio Bettina, of Beacon, N. Y., in a sizzling bout here last night before 8,499 spectators.

In declaring the match a tie, the N. B. A. stipulated that he winner would have to fight Gus Lesnevich of New Jersey, its third "outstanding challenger" within 60 days.

Lesnevich will be offered an early fight with Christoforidis, perhaps in Cleveland. If he refuses, the association indicated it would name Christoforidis the "undisputed" king.

The New York State Athletic commission still recognizes Billy Conn, who grabbed the title from Bettina, as champion but the N. B. A. says he abdicated by failing to defend the title.

Scaling 174 to enjoy a five-and-a-half pound weight advantage, southpaw Bettina started fast and showed promise of wearing Christoforidis down. However, the European staged a brilliant rally midway in the fight, opened Bettina's right eye and had the New Yorker reeling in the eighth round.

West Brooklyn Defeats Cherry Valley Last Eve

Coach Ray Walters* West Brooklyn's cagers leveled off their season percentage on the home court last night as they defeated Cherry Valley, 29 to 19, for the fourth victory in eight games.

Although the winners scored a 9 to 7 lead in the opening period and led 15 to 10 at the half, it wasn't until the last two periods that they really got hot and scored 14 points to nine by the visitors.

R. Gehant, forward for West Brooklyn, led the scoring with a total of 12 points. Biebold scored seven tallies for the losers.

Tomorrow night the Brooklyn team will be host to Creston, a team which the Waltermen defeated 20 to 12 in the season opener.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ
New York, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Tom Harmon's pickings as a pro total only $1,500 so far. Lou Nova can perish the thought of getting Billy Conn. First, Conn wants no part of Lou. Second, Mike Jacobs isn't going to let Billy fight Nova—which is more to the point, it's another premeditated fight from Bucky Harris, who was quite some before he turned to baseball, says "They've ruined the game with their infernal whistle-blowing".

Fritz Zivic has promised a Pittsburgh friend a $50 bill if he doesn't stop Henry Armstrong Friday night. No odds posted yet, but Armstrong probably will be the favorite.

Today's Guest Star—
Bill Shirley, Little Rock Arkansas Democrat: "We're willing to bet that Pittsburgh, which once shelled out 75 G's for one go, wouldn't part with one G for 75 G's right now."

You'll be seeing an old familiar face around the big leagues this season, if the Yanks bring up French Bordagary from Kansas City to take Jake Powell's place. (Wonder whether Frenchy is still wearing that soup strainer) ... Dale Stafford of The Associated Press Detroit bureau, takes over as sports editor of the Detroit Free-Press today. All his friends in the Midwest should shoot him a good luck wire. ... For the first time since their partnership was formed in 1936, Eddie Mead, who is ill, will not be in Henry Armstrong's corner Friday night.

So That's It?—
When Harry Stuhldreher, Wisconsin coach, visited Philly the other day he was asked where he picked up the striped, bright-colored scarf he was wearing. ... "Well," he said, "I had a bum season two years ago, so I bought this scarf so I'd look more like a student than a coach."

People You Know—
Lou Nova has gone to Clearwater, Fla., to await the next move in the heavyweight picture. ... General Alvin Crowder, the old big league pitcher, has opened a sports center down in Winston-Salem, N. C. ... Ray Blades, new manager of the New Orleans Pelicans, has bought a Luscombe trainer plane in which he dashes hither and yon in quest of talent.

TWO TEAMS TO MEET IN GAME HERE ON FRIDAY

Underclassmen Becoming Popular With Dixon Fandom
"75-72-74-77 and 76."

These are the numbers which Coach C. B. Lindell hopes will add up to a victory over the Belvidere sophomores cagers in the preliminary game here Friday night. For these are the numerals of the probable starting lineup of the Dixon Dukes who are hosts to the team with which they now share the lead in their division of the North Central conference.

Translated these numbers read: "Walter Knack, Frank Leeper, Floyd Egler, John Loftus and Bill Evans", five players who have thus far been largely responsible for the team's record of eight wins against no losses.

Strong Re-erves
These young basketballers along with a strong reserve of Bryce Hubbard, Eustace Shaw, Kenneth Cramer, John Todor, Donald Edwards, Robert Popma, Donald Hamill, Gordon Ommen, Robert Wiener, Armond Turner, Wayne Pierce, Wayne Mick and Fred Ulrich, have demonstrated some of the best underclassman basketball playing seen at the local high school in many a moon. They have become such popular favorites with the fans that they now rival the varsity in box office attraction and fans who used to delay their attendance until the major game started are now pouring in to see the undefeated sophomores perform.

The answer to their success and the keynote to their popularity is the teamwork which they demonstrate on the court. Each man is a vital part of the unit, he he "first string" or reserve.

Of the starting five (Egler, Loftus, Leeper, Knack and Evans) there is a united workmanship which carries on a smooth offense backed by a fast and tight defense.

Teamwork
Boys who do not share in the scoring as much as another, are just as important to the Dixon sophomore team and the knowledge of this fact seems to be carrying the locals right along.

On Friday night, however, the sophomores meet what may be their stiffest competition of the season as they battle the Belvidere sophs for the lead in their department of the conference. Each team has won four conference assignments.

In the entire season the Boone county team has played 11 games. Of these they have won nine, losing twice to the West Rockford team. In these 11 games the Belvidere team has totaled 260 points against 185 by their foes. Their scores are:

Sophomore Record
Belvidere 36; Marengo 4
Belvidere 27; West Rockford 22
Belvidere 27; Rochelle 12
Belvidere 17; Harlem 14
Belvidere 24; Mendota 18

Belvidere 30; DeKalb 16
Belvidere 13; West Rockford 35
Belvidere 20; Sterling 17
Belvidere 25; Watman 14

In winning eight straight games the Dixon team has totaled 259 points against 129 by the opponents. Belvidere has averaged almost 24 points per game while Lindell's lads have counted an average of 29 points per contest.

The Dixon record is as follows:
Sophomore Record
Dixon 17; Alton 10
Dixon 28; East Rockford 20
Dixon 26; Princeton 9
Dixon 25; Sterling 16
Dixon 20; West Rockford 13
Dixon 37; Freeport 23
Dixon 44; Mendota 22
Dixon 42; DeKalb 16

Friday night's sophomore game will start at 7 o'clock, 15 minutes earlier than previous games under the ruling that all conference games shall begin on the hour.

Fascist General Found Hiding on N. African Coast

Cairo, Egypt, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The British reported today the Italian blackshirt General Argentina had been captured by a motorboat crew after he was spotted from the air "hiding by the water's edge" in North Africa.

Argentina was said to have been commander of Italian forces at Sidi Barrani, recaptured Egyptian town which was the main advance base for Marshal Rodolfo Graziani's smashed offensive.

"Search for a large party of Italian generals and senior officers, which already has proved successful, still is being carried out by aircraft," the British statement said.

"These Italians are the vanguard of enemy troops who escaped from Bardia and were making for Tobruk along coastal paths before Bardia was surrounded and finally taken."

"RAF Hurricanes are flying low, sometimes skimming cliffs at 50 feet, and spotting lurking Italians who are taking refuge in caves."

Prepare Attack

"Two days ago a Hurricane observed a small party of Italian officers hiding by the water's edge. An RAF pilot reported it and a naval unit was advised."

"A British motorboat immediately took up the chase which resulted in the capture of the party, one of whom was General Argentina, who was in command at Sidi Barrani." With the same thoroughness they used in the siege of Bardia, the British continued preparations today for an attack on Tobruk, important Italian base in eastern Libya.

Artillery still was moving into position while the RAF, claiming virtual control of the air over the eastern third of Libya, carried on patrol work as far west as Benghazi.

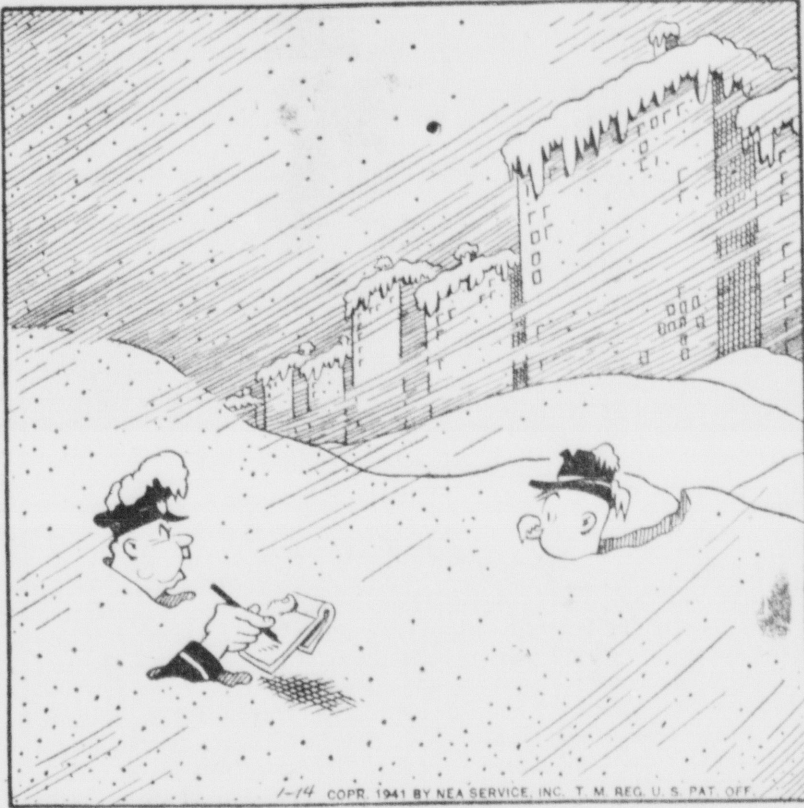

When the British attempt to storm Tobruk would come was a matter of speculation. In the case of Bardia the artillery preparation lasted more than three weeks.

They brought to number of signers to 14, leaving 22 to go.

CAGERS OF LOSING PURDUE LEAD IN BIG TEN SCORING

Chicago, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Purdue is going nowhere fast in the Big Ten basketball race, but it obviously isn't the fault of their goal-shooting twins, Forrest (Frosty) Sprowl and Don Blanken.

The defending champions have lost two of their first three games in the Big Ten campaign but Sprowl has taken over first place in the individual scoring race and Blanken is tied for second. Sprowl's 18 points against Wisconsin last night gave him a three-game total of 41.

Two points back are Blanken, who scored 16 last night, and Jim Mandler, Michigan center, Art Mathisen, Illinois center, who was the co-leader with Mandler before Monday's games, got only seven points, dropping to seventh place. Bill Menke, Indiana ace, was limited to six points by Northwestern, falling from the second to ninth spot, but he still has the best mark for two games.

NINE BILLIARDS EXPERTS MAKE BIDS FOR WORLD'S THREE-CUSHION HONORS

Chicago, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Nine Billiard experts, including two former champions, make their bow today in the round-robin battle for the world's three-cushion title held by Willie Hoppe of New York.

Hoppe himself still is in the hospital, but is recovering from a light attack of pneumonia. Barring setbacks, tournament officials expect the 53-year-old wizard to begin defense of the crown the latter part of next week.

The afternoon schedule today opens with Tiff Denton, a past winner of Kansas City, opposing Herb Peterson of St. Louis. Allen Hall of Chicago, perennial runner-up, plays Irving Crane, Rochester, N. Y., and Art Thurnblad, another ex-champion of Kenosha, Wis., meets Joe Moriarty, Chicago.

Twenty-five men and two women remained in custody last night for questioning by state police. Officers did not indicate whether charges would be filed in connection with the fighting that broke out between pickets and Saginaw police who attempted to escort A. F. L.-U. A. W. members through the picket line.

Five policemen and two pickets were slightly hurt. UAW spokesman said the strike was ordered because the company had failed in its pledge to rehire approximately 300 union members involved in a previous strike almost two months ago.

J. O. Eaton, company chairman, said the dispute was "strictly between different groups of employees" at the Saginaw plant which is working sub-contracted national defense orders for airplane parts.

Tonight Art Rubin, New York, plays John Fitzpatrick, Chicago, and Jay Bozeman of Vallejo, Cal., who finished third in this event last year, plays either Paul Lewin or Earle Lookabaugh, both of Chicago.

Lookabaugh furnished the meet with its first upset last night when he defeated Joe Chamaco of Mexico City, the 1939 world title holder, 50 to 37, in 54 innings. This was the only reversal of form in the opening day of competition.

New Plan Will Release British Army Experts

Washington, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Hundreds of the British army's experts would be relieved for duty in England, authorities predicted today, if the United States takes over the work of testing the munitions leased or lent to embattled "democracies".

They said the proposal, part of the administration's lease-lend bill, would make the war department's vast proving ground at Aberdeen, Md., and another projected one near Madison, Ind., available for testing guns, tanks and other weapons consigned to the British.

Head of No Foreign War Committee Before Jury

Washington, Jan. 14.—(AP)—A Federal grand jury investigating political campaign expenses summoned Verne Marshall, chairman of the No Foreign War Committee, today for testimony.

Marshall said he assumed he was called because of his connection with the committee, whose purpose he described as "to prevent the United States from being dragged into Europe's endless economic war".

Last week the grand jury heard testimony from W. R. Davis, New York City oil man, who, Marshall said in a recent press conference, carried an "agenda" of peace from Germany and offered to help finance the committee.

Epidemic of Flu Moves Eastward, Toward England

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
New York, Jan. 14—Next stop of the flu epidemic is Europe.

Although medical authorities will not be quoted, the trail is plain.
The first place to report an outbreak was Honolulu, late last summer. California health authorities traced it from there, via passengers coming to the United States, to the west coast, where it started in late fall.

Its eastward progress since has been so inexorable that it might be said to have travelled 50 miles a day, although actually it came east spotted all along the lines of travel, with its van at any one time always next door to an area farther west where the outbreak had become epidemic.

Where the Honolulu outbreak originated its unknown. But flu outbreaks have occurred sporadically for several years in widely-scattered parts of the world.

The first outstanding feature of this one was its steady progress eastward.

British Get Vaccine

Another sign of the eastward trail was the fact that England recently asked for, and received large shipments of the new influenza vaccine developed at the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in New York. There have been unverified reports that all the British military forces are to be vaccinated.

England stands first on the European receiving end because American war support is probably sending more human flu carriers there than to other countries. But all western Europe is exposed to catching America's flu, especially Portugal, landing point of the Clippers.

As things stand now, the flu carriers cannot be stopped, because no medical authority can recognize them.

An outstanding characteristic of this flu outbreak in the United States is that it is virtually non-fatal. Pneumonia, the thing that caused the high death rate in the great world-wide World War outbreak of flu, is not accompanying this one to any extent.

Surveys have shown that an average of five people read every daily newspaper. On this basis, over 35,000 people are reading the Dixon Evening Telegraph at the present time.

Applications for patents, filed in the Washington office during 1939, totalled 91,163.

Suggests Lower Alky Content in Liquors

Boston, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Lowering of the alcoholic content of "hard" liquors as a defense measure was advocated today by Dr. Timothy Leary of Boston, nationally-known medical examiner.

Also recommending that the United States place some limitation on the sale of all alcoholic beverages, Leary, a lecturer in legal medicine at Harvard, said in an interview:

"At a time when the nation is devoted to preparedness and is doing everything possible to build up its efficiency, we would do well to adopt measures similar to those Great Britain adopted with excellent results at the outbreak of World War I."

He said Britain, by cutting the alcohol content of hard liquors and placing a time limitation on sales of alcoholic beverages, had effected "a notable increase" in temperance among its people "which has continued since the war".
